

NEA-ALASKA/RETIRED

Why join?

What helps us to live well?

Retirement Benefits

Advocating for a quality retirement

A lifetime of continuing support and money-saving programs after you retire.

NEA Insurance Programs

- ✧ Auto & Home Insurance Program
- ✧ NEA Homeowners Insurance
- ✧ NEA Group Term Life Insurance
- ✧ NEA AD&D Insurance
- ✧ New Level Premium Term Life Insurance Plan
- ✧ Pets' Best Insurance

Loan and Mortgage Programs

- ✧ NEA Home Financing Program
- ✧ NEA Personal Loans
- ✧ Investment Programs
- ✧ Consumer Discount Programs

Up-to-date information on pension issues and medical benefits, starting before you retire.

A strong voice in Congress and the Alaska Legislature on Social Security, Medicare, and state pension issues.

Benefits: Work in Political Action

- ✧ NEA's political and legislative efforts help protect your retirement resources
- ✧ Retired are an integral part of NEA and NEA AK, working along side active members at DA, RA, state committees and in the State Legislature

A smooth transition from your “active” membership to your “retired”
membership.

Other Benefits

- ✧ Staying connected with fellow NEA members and programs
- ✧ Subscription to NEA's bimonthly retiree magazine, This Active Life.
- ✧ Subscription to NEA-Alaska/Retired

A continuing strong voice for public education.

We Explore...

Rich Kronberg on Coast Guard Beach on Cape Cod - taught in Anchorage

Steve Click, in Santorini, Greece - taught in Barrow & Fairbanks

Julie Gwyther Egolf on Abaco Island in the Bahamas - taught in Juneau.

Barbara and Henry Anderson on Polulu Point, Hawaii - taught in the Kenai Peninsula Borough School District

Gwenn Davies Guy and a Grand Cayman sunset Corona-style - taught in Fairbanks

Enjoying Tennessee in the fall, Jody Viscardi – taught in Anchorage

Karla Gallagher with her winter home – taught in Anchorage

...and at the Acropolis in Athens, Greece

We Volunteer a Lot!

Steve Click
volunteering with Kiwanis - taught in Fairbanks

Bob Deitrick during a presentation he gave at a Good Neighbors
Volunteer meeting held in Skagway - taught in Juneau

Mary Bohanan volunteering in classrooms – taught in North Pole, Delta Junction & Fort Greely

Re-wired teacher, Nancy Hummel and her border collie, Starlight, enjoy doing Pet Therapy weekly in the psychiatric ward at the Fairbanks Memorial Hospital, under the guidance of an occupational therapist - taught in Fairbanks

We Have Time for Projects

Clearing land for a new home, Ed Viscardi – taught in Anchorage

Steve Click
doing finishing work on his new home

Karla digging post holes for their new home in Willow.

We Play a Lot!!

Rich Kronberg (in blue) hiking in the Tortolita Mountains
near Tucson – taught in Anchorage

Henry Anderson
steelhead fishing on the Situk River – taught in bush
communities,
Kenai Peninsula, &
Anchorage

kissing a sting ray

“Newly ReWired” along the Kancamagus Highway in New Hampshire in October, Nancy Hummel – taught in Fairbanks

Time for Hobbies

Rick Kronberg playing music
with friends - taught in Anchorage

Learning to ride a bike in a whole new way , Gwenn Davies Guy - taught in “the bush” and in Fairbanks

Artwork by Steve Click - taught in Barrow and Fairbanks

Choices

Many folks like having a “job” to go to, just to organize their time, be around people, and/or get out of the house and that’s great!

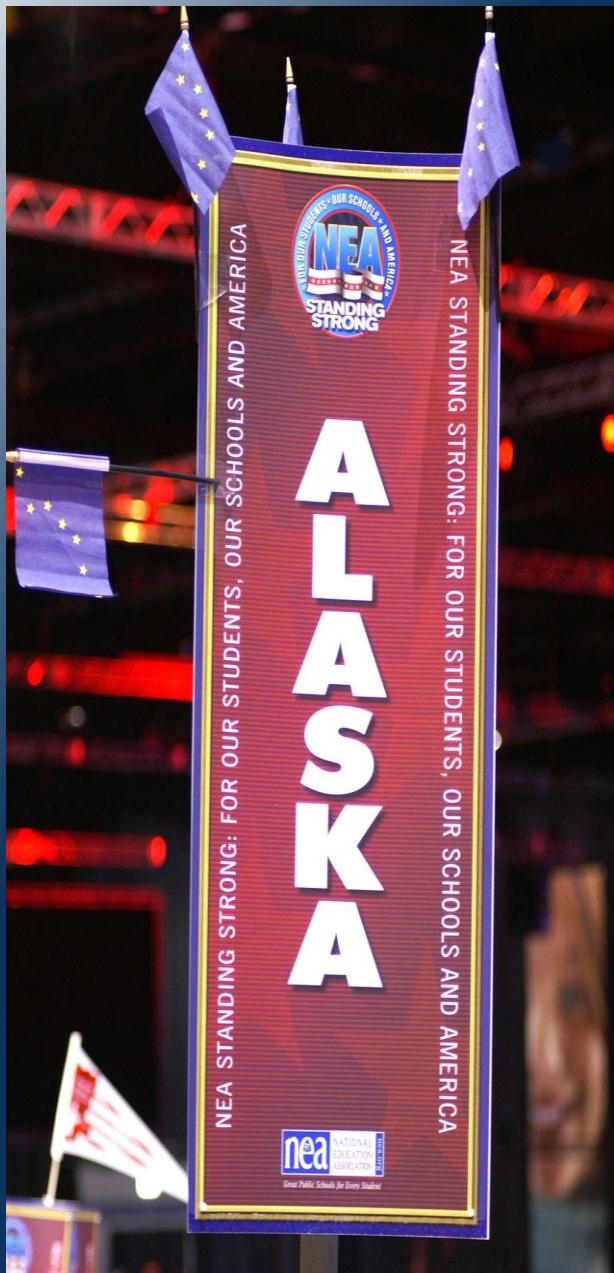

A “Bagger” at a grocery store.....

Attending RA in Chicago

Barbara Stek and a fellow teacher and friend from Florida catching up on teacher and childhood stories – taught in Anchorage

Why Pre-Retire?

Help protect the benefits and services that took a lifetime to earn.

Prepay NOW!

Your NEA-Alaska/Retired LIFETIME dues are paid in full - while you're still in your earning years.

How to Pre-retire?

See us at the retirement table and we will help you

“Pay It Forward!”

Honoring
your past, protecting your future!